

I am writing to express opposition to the FCC's proposed rule that would require nonprofit organizations to obtain permission in writing to send fax communications to its own membership. Communicating about member benefits, including publications and conference opportunities, is an important service provided and expected as part of membership in our organization.

I urge the FCC to provide an exemption from these rules to nonprofit organizations with existing relationships.